Want to know the secret to a totally toned tummy? Look no further than Shakira... Owner of perhaps the most sought after stomach, she likes you to think it's down to hours of extreme exercise and her Colombian belly dancing - the truth is... she's been using an Ultratone machine for 12 years! And with a half hour session being the equivalent of 900 sit-ups, who can blame her?!

The tummy is probably every woman's worst nightmare when it comes to toning up, and unless you're willing (and able!) to do hours of sit-ups every day it's unlikely you'll ever be able to rival your favourite flat-bellied celebrities. But, with one session of Ultratone and 20 toning pads at your disposal, you can target your V spot, lower abdominals, upper abdominals and love handles all at the same time - you'll be looking fabulous in your crop tops before you know it!

The Science

Ultratone equipment uses advanced biostimulation technology to achieve phenomenal results on the face and body. The pads are electronically yet comfortably stimulated via a complex set of computer controlled frequencies that provide instant and lasting results.

The Ultratone pulses cause your muscles to contract and relax in a pattern similar to normal exercise but with no risk of strain or fatigue.

The advanced microprocessor delivers biostimulation in sequential phases with continuous changing patterns in pulse widths, frequencies, timings and intensities to provide the most effective treatment for your tummy flattening requirements.

The Treatment

It couldn't be easier! Prepare for the easiest workout of your life. Simply apply the pads to your tummy (and any other area you don't like), then grab a magazine, read a book, watch TV or even have a little snooze as the machine gets to work. It's painless and you'll see and feel the results after just one session!
